PROBLEM DESCRIPTION

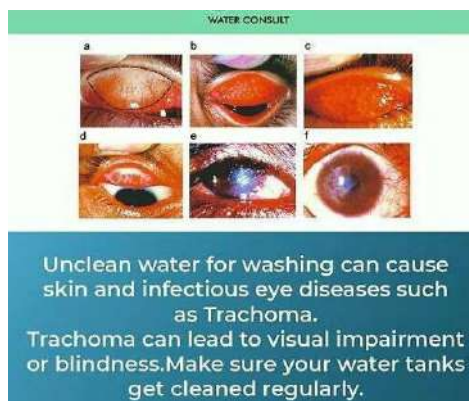

PROBLEM DESCRIPTION

Most of water storage tanks vary between three different types; Overhead water tanks, underground water tanks and ground level water tanks. These tanks are all made from a variety of materials and classified into different categories as they are all prone to different development of growth, bacteria and sludge.

We are all aware that impure water is the reason for most of chronic diseases, skin allergies and other health problems, yet most of people forget to check up on their water tanks to make sure they're clean because they don't know the importance of clean water tank or they don't make it priority.

Water coming from a dirty tank contains many types of Germs that can affect your health. Contaminated water can transmit diseases such as diarrhea, cholera, dysentery [kuharisha damu], typhoid and polio. To avoid health issues such as dysentery {kuharisha damu} and gastroenteritis {matatizo ya matumbo}, clean water is essential for consumption

When you leave a water tank for a long period of time without cleaning it, it may also become impossible to ever fully clean it again forcing you to undertake an expensive tank replacement.

Contaminated water can transmit preventable diseases like diarrhea, cholera, dysentery, typhoid and more

Our services objective is to provide a unique vacuum cleaning system and ensure all sediments, leaves, flowers & blossoms are removed from the floor of the resident's tank in order to save the livelihood of Dar-es-Salaam citizens.

ACTC SERVICES OBJECTIVE

The main objective of ACTC services is to request for support and tender in order to clean water storage tank firstly in Dar es Salaam citizen and improve their livelihood

The various element of the project are summarized as follows,

- 1 To promote health water, absence of offensive odour and to avoid the spreading of dirty and contaminants to oneself and others in Dar es Salaam community.
- 2 To provide education/Information about the value or importance of improved water supply, behaviour and sanitation.
